

THE KELPIES HORSE STATUES SCOTLAND

"Beware the wild beauty of the streams and rivers of Scotland. In those deep, dark pools and foaming eddies lie the mythical water horses, the shape-shifting legendary spirits called the Kelpies."

Today the Kelpies are celebrated in sheer modern-age beauty via the largest equine sculptures in the world. To honour the mythical Kelpies, they are monuments which stand 30.48 metres tall and weigh over 272 tons. They are built of structural steel with a stainless-steel cladding. Sculptor Andy Scott modelled the head and neck images on two Clydesdales named Duke and Baron. The horses and their steel images represent everything about the heritage of the heavy horse in Scotland's industry and commerce.

BRECON BACONS WALES

The land of dragons

Steeped in mystic history stretching back to the days of King Arthur, Wales - the land of dragons - is truly a unique and beautiful place. Named 'Cymru' in Welsh. This protected landscape stretches 520 square miles and maintains the pristine beauty of the lower Welsh countryside

LIVE WITH THE CULTURE

UNITED KINGDOM

DUNLUCE CASTLE

NORTHERN IRELAND

Dunluce is one of the most picturesque and romantic of Irish Castles. With evidence of settlement from the first millennium, the present castle ruins date mainly from the 16th and 17th centuries. It was inhabited by both the feuding McQuillan and MacDonnell clans. Historical and archaeological exhibits are on display for public viewing.

The Castle has become a tourist hotspot not only for the stunning views on offer but more recently its claim to fame with being used in the iconic show Game of Thrones and used as Seat of House Greyjoy, the great castle of Pyke.

More information

<http://www.ourcultureproject.org>

EU Disclaimer

"The European Commission support for the production of this publication does not constitute an endorsement of the contents which reflects the views only of the authors, and the Commission cannot be held responsible for any use which may be made of the information contained therein."

Explore Cultural Heritage Now

www.liveculture.aketh.eu/